Quicklet on David Roberts and Greg Child's Sandstone Spine: Seeking the Anasazi on the First Traverse of the Comb Ridge (CliffNotes-like Book Summary and Analysis) Nicole Silvester, 2012-07-30

ABOUT THE BOOK In this book I have chosen sometimes to be deliberately vague about the name and location of certain prehistoric ruins and rock art. Such an ethic is by now in long use among writers, photographers, and guides who celebrate the Southwest. A narrative of personal discovery should not serve as a treasure map. Roberts and Child's book Sandstone Spine is an account of the expedition of three men along Comb Ridge, a sandstone ridge resembling a miniature mountain range and running for nearly an hundred miles across Arizona and Utah. This area is full of archaeological ruins, primarily from various phases of the Anasazi people, as well as more recent Navajo sites. While the basic premise of the book is a recounting of Roberts, Child's, and their friend Vaughn Hadenfeldt's experiences during the arduous expedition along the length of the Ridge, the structure and additional content of Sandstone Spine make it much more than simply an account of an hiking trip. Interspersed between sections recounting the events of the hike are retellings of historical events significant to the area and information on both the current Navajo inhabitants and the prehistoric Anasazi people. Roberts also includes geological and natural history information, arranging all of this content into a fascinating mosaic of a book. The book narrates how, while searching for a new expedition, author David Roberts and long time hiking and climbing partner Vaughn Hadenfeldt wondered whether or not anyone had ever hiked Comb Ridge from end to end in one trip. As it seemed that no one had ever made a complete traverse of the Ridge, the two friends decided to try it themselves, and they both agreed that photographer and mutual friend Greg Child would be the perfect third party to join them on the expedition. At ages 47, 53, and 61, respectively, at the time of their trip, Child, Hadenfeldt, and Roberts had spent their lives making adventurous forays into some of the most inaccessible places on Earth. Both Roberts and Child made good livings writing about their adventures, while Hadenfeldt ran a business guiding hiking trips into the Utah canyonlands. The level of expedition and adventure writing experience that Roberts and Child have ensures that their book includes interesting and relevant information for readers. Roberts did considerable research after the trip to complement the daily journals he kept. Sandstone Spine was published by The Mountaineers Books, which also published some of Roberts' other titles. The publisher is a part of The Mountaineers Club, a non profit dedicated to the exploration, preservation, and enjoyment of outdoor and wilderness areas. In keeping with its publisher's philosophy, Sandstone Spine is very much a book about enjoying the outdoors in a respectful and non destructive way.

EXCERPT FROM THE BOOK Over the years Greg, Vaughn, and I had found literally hundreds of Anasazi ruins in the backcountry. Yet the thrill of coming upon a new one, especially one so beautiful as this, was undiminished. Chapter One describes the preparations that Roberts, Child, and Hadenfeldt make for their expedition. As the area they wish to traverse has unreliable water supplies, the men decide on a water caching system in which they visit key locations along the ridge by driving and day hiking and leave plastic bottles of water where they can easily find them again They also decide to arrange for another friend to meet them at certain dates at points where highways and road access penetrate the ridge so they won t have to pack a whole month s worth of food This will also allow them to swap out equipment if necessary Hiking the whole length of Comb Ridge also requires permits buy the book to continue reading

Richard Bangs, Adventure Without End Richard Bangs, Ed Viesturs, 2002

The author presents a collection of travel and adventure stories including a chronicle of a whitewater rafting trip in Idaho s Selway River and mountaineering in Washington State and Borneo

Where the Pavement Ends Erika

Warmbrunn, 2002-09-01 In the middle of the night I crawled out of my tent into a silvery vastness truly unchanged since Genghis Khan and his hordes loped west more than half a millennium ago There was no glow of city lights on the horizon no ranger station at the edge of the next valley no quaint general store no paved road There was nothing but space unbounded and untamed A brilliant moon lit the blackness crystal clear Moonshadows of every blade of grass danced silently in the wildness It was the emptiest quietest place I had ever been I threw my arms out wide and spun slowly around and around in the dazzling clarity of the night the stars blurring into ribbons of light above me Mongolia It was Erika Warmbrunn s dream To escape deep into parts of Asia inaccessible to tours and guidebooks to abandon herself to the risks of the unknown And so with only a bicycle named Greene for a traveling companion she set off on an eight month 8 000 kilometer trek that stretched across the steppes of this ancient land on through China and down the length of Vietnam Freed by Greene s two wheels from the tyranny of discrete points on a map she found that the true merit of travel was not in the simple seeing but in flowing with the unexpected adventure or invitation in savoring the moments in between the daily challenges of new words and customs the tiny triumphs of learning a new way of life the daunting thrill of never knowing what the next day would bring Wanting to ride a Mongolian horse and finding herself in the saddle for four hours herding fifty head of cattle Asking for a hotel in a Chinese village and being taken into a family s home to share their grandmother s bed for the night Pedaling into the Vietnamese highlands and being stopped along the muddy road by a father asking that she join his two year old son s birthday party Accepting a Mongolian village s invitation to stop pedaling and stay for a while to live with them and teach them English In the doing and the telling Where the Pavement Ends is a much richer experience than any line on a map can show Where the Pavement Ends is the recipient of the Barbara Savage Miles From Nowhere Memorial Award You can find out more about this author at her website www.wherethepavementends.com
